NOTED BALLADEER SLATED FOR SALVE REGINA SERIES

Earle Spicer, distinguished ballad recitalist, will appear in concert as part of Salve Regina College's Cultural Events Series, Tuesday, October 4, at 7:30 in Ochre Court.

Considered the "nation's most re-engaged singer by colleges today," Mr. Spicer has sung with leading symphony orchestras here and abroad, for three years was a featured soloist on NBC television, and has presented his unusual program at more than 500 of our leading colleges and universities.

The traditional English and American ballads and folk songs to be rendered by this Acadian born balladeer are stories in song which date back long before the alphabet and are considered the foundation of both music and English literature. Their beauty, simplicity, directness and humor are considered a great influence on present day creative writing.

Mr. Spicer will give brief comments on the various songs and ballads creating an atmosphere of informality which must have been characteristic of the ancient troubadours.

The public is cordially invited to attend. A nominal admission charge of fifty cents is asked.
